information described in article authored by Tang, entitled Characterizations, Numerical Analysis, and Design of Switched Reluctance Motors. The improvement comprises a design software method for performing an analysis on a proposed rivet design, wherein a user inputs proposed design requirements and information about the proposed design, and the software conducts an analysis of the design requirements by comparing output values, thereby indicating how effective the proposed design is in meeting the design requirements. The art of record, either individually or in combination, fails to teach, suggest, or render obvious the useful, concrete and tangible patentable distinctions for performing an analysis on a proposed design, having the corresponding structure which is disclosed in the specification and equivalents thereof (at least at page 7, line 7 through page 16, line 6, and Figures 1-17). In view of the foregoing, the claims of the present application are found to be patentable over the prior art.
